- Multiple suppliers are used to cover all aspects of PCB manufacture; all processes are duplicated from one supplier to another.
- Kestrel's supply in China and the rest of Asia provide a full service with a number working from multiple sites to cover all possible eventualities.
- Kestrel continuously monitor their suppliers and will never change a supplier unless the supplier becomes unreliable through delivery or quality performance, and only then with the written agreement of our customer.
- The speed of change driven by technology can be clearly seen in the behaviour of global financial markets; all our suppliers keep up to date with the latest technology and improvements.
- Natural disasters appear more frequent and have greater impact to the extended supply chains. Kestrel's multiple suppliers and sites are spread across Asia, help to lower this risk.
- Currency fluctuations, social and political unrest, can all have impact on the supply. These are carefully monitored and adjustments are made accordingly.
- With the increase in customs and government compliance, legal requirements, corporate social responsibility and governance. Kestrel International Circuits keep monitoring and adjusting the service to ensure the Customer has a seamless service using both our Shenzhen and Hong Kong offices.
- As part of risk management offering, our UK site offers Stock holding, Kanban options and consignment stock service.

These are just some of the risks that Kestrel International Circuits manage successfully and continue to manage with all challenging developments we are continually facing. Kestrel are at the forefront in controlling risk.
